Shyborg, 2023

My work shows characters and objects that go through some kind of psychological process. I create characters that allow me to go through these stages. I like when very simple ideas turn into complex concepts. I work within theme based phases which culminate into groups of works mostly consisting of painting, photography and drawings. Most of the latest projects orbited around thoughts of non human vs. human life and dominance. Through this, I explore ideas about perceived hegemony and the concept of power. The devaluation of other life forms raises questions about human fragility. Right now I´m working with metals, sound and particle physics.
